Connecting your business to the etching you need

LASER ETCHING PROCESS

We etch any size surface up to a 4' x 8' section in one piece. We also etch varied sizes made up of 1' squares, such as a puzzle.

Laser etching or laser engraving starts with scanning an image into a computer. Once the image is scanned, it is then formatted for the laser machine. The laser is a 2400-degree beam of light that burns through the surface of most materials, leaving a permanent etching. The laser light beam is only 1/3000th of an inch, so minute detail is achievable. After the image is formatted and loaded into the laser, the machine goes to work. Best etching results will be on India Black Granite.

PORTRAITS

Original photographs of your loved ones can be etched in a different shape of tile like oval, square, rectangle or heart as portraits.

Multiple pictures can be combined to create a truly original work of art. The detail and picture quality in laser engraved headstones is unrivaled by traditional sandblasting, and the ability to create completely custom headstones is making the laser option increasingly popular.

MSV is a US based granite monument wholesaler and distributor servicing Monument Retailers, Funeral Homes and Cemeteries since 2010. The Company is promoted by young and dynamic entrepreneur who has passion in granites monuments craftsmanship. The company headquarters is strategically located in Chattanooga, TN. HAND DIAMOND ETCHING

Our skilled hand etcher can reproduce any pictures or content into stone.

Color etching is not guaranteed. There is no way to put a time frame on any individual color etching's longevity due to the various situations stones encounter.

We always tell people that while we use top rated paints that are formulated to stand up to weather and ultraviolet light, still any and every painted surface that spends time in those conditions will, over time, experience some fading. The etching is permanent. Color, however, can always be touched up.
